

Notes from the School Counselor

Well, we made it through week two of off-site learning. What an experience it has been for most of us.

If you and your child are watching the morning announcements, you may have caught my Word of the Day on Fridays. The first WOTD was "Challenge" and the second was "Courage". These words describe, to me, what it's been like and what it's going to take to keep going.

In the next day or so, Mr. Malear has said parents will get a survey from our Superintendent, Mr. Pempin. The survey will describe options for a return to face-to-face learning, what the options might look like, and ask what option parents would prefer. The administration will take a serious look at the survey results to make hard decisions. Once a decision is made, parents will be informed and a timeline set. As always, health and safety are the utmost concerns of the district leadership team.

If you have any questions once you receive the survey, please don't hesitate to contact Mr. Malear or me. We are here for you and your students. As we tell our students, "We can do hard things." We are up for the challenge having made up our minds that we will face difficulty and keep trying!
