

Hooray We're Returning to School!

Happy October! The best news I've gotten in a long time is that we will return to school. Some may not share my enthusiasm; however, I believe that our leadership is making the best decision and also planning for a safe return.

For those families choosing to continue learning virtually, we will still work hard to keep those students connected to VES. Mr. Malear and I will do our announcements live each morning, just a little earlier at 8:50 a.m.

I will be visiting classrooms to re-introduce myself as the School Counselor and helper. We have new monthly themes which I will post on this site. The district adopted the monthly themes as a whole to encourage unity among the three buildings. As you will see, the original themes (in black type) were a little out of the elementary mindset. The rephrased themes are in colorful type and better suit elementary students. My classroom presentations and announcements will now reflect these new themes.

“What we think and feel-And how we let others know”, (Communication) is October's theme. Students will learn about feelings and how to express even the strongest emotions. No matter where your student will be learning this month, Happy October & Welcome Back Students!
